A neighboring exchange says:

The editor of a country paper received the following query: "Can you tell me what the weather will be next month?" In reply he wrote, "It is my belief that the weather next month will be very much like your subscription." The inquirer wondered for some time, and the editor was driving at what he happened to think of the word "unsubscribed."

He went in the next day and squared his account.

—Joseph Yarus, aged 26, of Farno, Clinton township, was, last Friday, committed to the county jail by Justice of the Peace, Robert A. Smith, of this borough. The prisoner, who was married five years ago, appears to have made an unsatisfactory choice in his selection of a wife, and about four years ago the pair separated. Eventually the young man returned to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Yarus, who live on "The Island" in White Oak pond, Clinton township. For some time, according to the young man, the family has been showing signs of a discordant mind, and on Sunday last week, taking special umbrage at a neighboring farmer who had been engaged to do some work on the place, he picked up a pot of paint, and apparently intending that he had the obnoxious enemy in his clutches, tore the poor beast asunder. The next day, it is alleged, he told his mother that in his opinion it was time for his father to die also, and that he ought to be treated similarly to the cat. The elder Mr. Yarus then sought the advice of Dr. H. C. Noble, of Waymart, and at his suggestion the young man was brought to Honesdale on Friday, with a view to the execution of the papers necessary to secure his admission to an insane asylum. He was taken before the justice, but some question arising as to the legal course of procedure in such cases, no formal complaint was made; but, on the personal statements of the parties interested, he was sent to the county jail for restraint and safe keeping. On Monday morning Dr. Noble and postmaster W. W. Hopkins, with the father of the young man, came to Honesdale expecting to secure his immediate release and removal to an insane hospital on the certificate of two physicians and the concurrence of the Clinton township poor board. Their application was denied, however, the sheriff being instructed by counsel that nothing further could be done until the return to town of Judge P. J. Tully, and the action of a committee of honesto quendo appointed by him. This view is vigorously contested by Dr. Noble and others interested in the case, who contend that the young man, not being charged with any criminal offense, could not lawfully be confined in the county jail merely because of a disordered mind, but should be sent to an institution where he can be properly treated.

—John Keady, of Dorset, while fishing in Lake Honesdale, on Sunday last, Friday, was fortunate enough to capture a Lake Erie catfish that was thirty-two inches in length and weighed sixteen and one-quarter pounds.

—The real estate of the late Clifford L. Chapman, late of South Canaan, comprising a dwelling, barn and sixty-seven acres of land, was sold at auction on Sunday, Aug. 14th, to Frank B. and Marian Jones. Consideration, $1,800.

—If Lyman H. Howe's Liberator, to be seen in the Lyric Theatre on Wednesday, Aug. 26, 1908, had nothing else to recommend it, there would be a strong reason for its popularity. Under his guidance the audience is taken on a marvelous and exceedingly interesting night-seeing trip, embracing a visit to Naples, Rome, historic India, and a delightful tour through Savoy, France. Expert Australian axmen and rough riders contribute a stirring picture of strenuous life in the tropics, and between the more serious and instructive scenes many of a really comic nature are given to the unmitigated delight of young and old. No gallery sale. All seats reserved.

—A most unpopular officer in General Humidity. Under his rule men feel as rags. Women refuse to wear corsets and much lingerie. Children are cross and unwilling. Cats stretch flat out on the floor and refuse to move. Dogs jump and pant in the shade, refusing even to follow a butcher wagon. The piano won't play. The doors won't close. The potatoes won't boil measly. The bread gets wet. The crisp pretzels are as broad as wafers. The shades refuse to roll up. The newspapers are damp. Front-end rollers won't take ink. Horses drop fish and meat-poll in a few hours. The postman is late. The policeman never shows up. The windows stick. The typewriter ribbon tears. The axes rust. All the carpenter tools are dull. Nothing wants to do as nature intended it. Wherefore and why is General Humidity?

—White Haven has a thorough ordinance restricting automobiles to a speed not exceeding six miles an hour, under heavy penalty, and if these are not paid within forty-eight hours ten days' imprisonment is added, with confiscation of auto until all claims are settled. Honesdale's speed limit is much more liberal, but generous as it is it is without doubt frequently exceeded. That arrests for violations of the local ordinance have not already been made is due to the difficulty of fixing the exact rate at which the machines are traveling without measured and marked distances may be made. This trouble may be remedied, however, and when it is, reckless drivers may expect to take the consequences of their disregard of the borough laws.

A well written article accompanying the issue of the Herald of August 14th, states that Mr. Lancaster's father, Richard Lancaster, after filling nearly every election office in Wayne county, was next elected a member of the State Legislature at Harrisburg, where he served over four years. This, it is now to most Wayne county people, Thomas J. Hubbard, was the member for the local county in 1851, and F. M. Crane in 1853. Mr. Lancaster's term ending between, could only have been for one year, that of 1852. With the exception of his term as sheriff, beginning in 1840, we have no knowledge that Richard Lancaster ever held any other office than that of Representative. It was his official record as sheriff that it was deemed best to have legitimized by an act of the Legislature.

—Lake Como is filled with summer guests, and city people are turned away every day. The greater proportion of the many large lakes in Wayne county are destined to become great resorts for pleasure seekers.

—The D. and H. Co. is now operating mechanical state pickers in several of its colonies in and near Wilkes-Barre. One of the machines with twelve boys does the work of 300 boys. Ten uses of these pickers will doubtless be extended to all the other colonies of this company, as well as other corporations, the invention proving a success.

—There will be a large apple crop in Wayne county, this fall, and this reminds us that Pennsylvania stands as one in the list of States growing apples.

—Harold Krantz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Krantz, of Carbondale, slipped and fell on the sidewalk near his home, on Thursday last, and sustained a broken wrist.

—The 55th annual parade and inspection of the Honesdale Fire Department will take place on Thursday, Aug. 27th, with Alert Hook and Ladder Co. and Texas No. 4 Chemical Co. as guests. The Honesdale Band and the Maple City Drum Corps will furnish music for the parade in the morning, and Spangler's orchestra for the picnic and dance in Billvue Park during the afternoon and evening.

—The first annual re-union of the Over family will be held in the grave of Alfred H. Over, E. M. Place, on Friday, Aug. 29th.

—Officer Canineva has relieved the community of eleven worthless cures during the past week.

—The Shomakers' excursion from Honesdale to Lake Lodore, on Tuesday, was well patronized, no less than 1,155 tickets being sold at the union station.

—From the Scranton Tribune of Aug. 13th:

—While it is comparatively recently the weather observation station was established in this city and the people of Scranton have been furnished with accurate data concerning the weather, the little town of Dyberry, in Wayne county, has for forty-eight years been supplied with this information through the instrumentality of the Dyberry Day of its public spirited citizens. For almost half a century Mr. Day has carefully observed the changes in temperature, measured the rainfall, and gauged the wind at Dyberry. At the outset his own satisfaction inspired Mr. Day to perform these duties. Later he was encouraged by the weather bureau and appointed day weather observer. At these years Mr. Day has kept a careful record of the observations, and has been able to ascertain at a moment's notice exactly what the temperature was on any specified day forty-eight years ago. Every month the Honesdale paper publishes the summary of his observations for the preceding month. Mr. Day is now well advanced in years, but his weather observations continue to interest him just as they did when he began them while a young man.

—Owing to the tremendous demands for the fund for the payment of bounties upon the escape of noxious animals appropriated by the Legislature, the fund has been exhausted in only one-half the time which the sum was expected to cover. Last week Auditor General Young was confronted with bills amounting to $22,979 and found but $2,347 remaining in the $50,000 fund, and the bills from forty-three counties had to be prorated, each county receiving 10 and a fraction per cent. The appropriation made last year was $50,000, of which $4 was offered for a wildcat, $2 for a fox and $1 each for rinks and weasels. There was a tremendous rush for the money from almost every county and one man named Swaps, living in Huntington, received $1,500 at one time. In other counties hunters turned in made a good living, hunting down the proscribed animals. The Legislature fixed January and June as the time for turning in the receipts and when the payments were made for the first month of this year they very nearly exhausted the fund. The bills turned in by counties cannot be paid in full, only 10 per cent. being allowed, and they will have to look to the next Legislature for reimbursement. If a bill is passed to meet the deficiency, $100,000 will be recommended for the purpose.

—Mrs. Margaret (Murray) Leonard, widow of Michael Leonard, who met his death four years ago by falling from a load of hay, ended her life on Wednesday morning of last week, August 12th, by swallowing two ounces of carbolic acid, at her home in Canaan township, a short distance from the outlet of Lake Lodore. Mrs. Leonard retired at her usual hour on Tuesday evening, but in a very despondent mood. In the early hours of the day she had seemed more than ordinarily bright and hopeful, but in the afternoon became depressed, and told other members of the household that she "could not live longer." As she had often declared that her life was not worth living no particular weight was given to her words on this occasion. But when her daughter Mary arose in the morning, Mrs. Leonard was found lying dead on a couch in the sitting room, an empty carbolic acid bottle clearly indicating the means adopted for putting an end to her life. The poison had been purchased for the preparation of a wash to keep flies from annoying the cattle, and had been in the house for some time. The suicide had been afflicted with a serious stomach trouble for some years, and had been treated by different physicians with but little relief. To ease herself of some of the burdens of life she sold her farm shortly after the death of her husband for $2,000, investing a portion of the proceeds in a smaller place, located farther in the woods and fell into a melancholy mood, which was no doubt aggravated by her physical ailment, and resulting finally in such mental derangement as to lead her to self-destruction. Coroner Dr. H. B. Seales, who was summoned, after learning the circumstances attending the death of Mrs. Leonard, decided that an inquest was unnecessary. The unfortunate lady was a native of Cherry Ridge township, and her forty-eight years of life were spent there and in Canaan, where she was held in the highest respect. At the age of eighteen she was married to Michael Leonard, and has left a family of five children, Mrs. Elizabeth Collins, of Carbondale; Katherine, of Honesdale, and Mary, Margaret and John at home. She also survived by her mother, Mrs. Hugh Leonard, a brother, John, and three sisters, Mary, Kate, and Mrs. Joseph Morgan, of Cherry Ridge. The funeral services were held on Friday last.

—A saw mill owned by W. J. Cobb, and located some two miles from Honesdale, was destroyed by fire on the night of the 12th, together with a quantity of lumber and mine props, catching in some unknown manner. There was a small insurance.

—Thursday last was the twentieth anniversary of the Erie wreck, a short distance west of Shobola, which occurred on Monday, August 13, 1888. Owing to heavy rains a landslide had taken place, covering the track with earth and rocks. Train 84, an east-bound freight, ran into the mass, the engine being thrown over on to the west-bound track and four cars being wrecked. No. 3, the west-bound express, was nearly derailed at that point and a wreck of the wrecked train took a lantern and tried to signal the flyer, but was too late. No. 30 engine ran into the locomotive of No. 84, and then rolled down the eighty foot embankment to the river's edge, followed by a stock car, containing seventeen running horses belonging to Fred Gebhardt and Mrs. Langtry, "the Jersey Lily," a baggage car, mail car, and one or two day coaches. Five passenger cars, including three Pullmans, remained on the track. The cars which went down the bank took fire, and the passengers were rescued with great difficulty, about forty being injured. John Kinella, engineer of No. 3, was scalded about the face, and Alexander Newman was killed. Nine trainmen and other employees on No. 3 were injured. Of the crew of No. 34, Engineer M. F. Fritz, who now lives in Honesdale, and runs train 30 and 115 between this place and Port Jervis, was injured about the head and face; fireman Hagan had both arms broken, and conductor Long's back was injured. All of the horses, estimated to be worth $300,000, were burned to death or badly injured with the exception of two. Six of the most serious injured among the passengers and trainmen were taken over the river to Barryville for treatment, but most of them were removed to Port Jervis hospitals.

—The Scranton baseball team, which thus far for the season had held the leading position in club standing in the New York State League, was reduced to second place on Wednesday of last week, Binghamton becoming the top-notchers, their percentage being Binghamton, 608; Scranton, 606.

Every male citizen who is otherwise qualified to vote must be registered on one of the full registration days, namely Tuesday, Sept. 1st; Tuesday, Sept. 15th, and Saturday, Oct. 17th. The voters should bear these dates in mind. No man can vote at the Presidential election unless he shall be registered this fall, no matter how often he has been registered in the past. Every voter must register at least once a year, and the time for registering is to take part in the Presidential election a mental note should be made of these important dates.

—An exchange advocates a plan whereby the young ladies attending church in the evening can register their names in the church vestibule, so that the young men who are in the habit of lingering around the church door can see whether or not their best girl is present and thus get a troubled brain at rest. The plan would undoubtedly be a great convenience.

—It was the Methodist Episcopal church about $25,000,000 annually in the United States for its preaching and superintendence, this including about $600,000 that is paid to superannuated ministers.

—Conrad Miller has purchased a lot of the estate of John Torrey, 80 by 125 feet, on Spring street, with the expectation of erecting a dwelling on it at an early date. Consideration, $300.

—The Shoemakers' outing on Tuesday last was the complete success which the parade and open air band concert of Monday evening foreshadowed. The weather was charming throughout the entire day, and notwithstanding the immense crowds attending the excursion to Lake Lodore and participating in the various enjoyments of that popular resort, not a mishap occurred to mar the pleasure of a single individual. Thanks to the copious showers of a few days previous, the intercession as to the use of fireworks during the parade was removed, and the showy turnout of union members, enlivened by the fine music of the Honesdale band and Maple City drum corps, was made brilliant by the constant blaze of red light and an incessant discharge of roman candles. The concert in Union Depot Park, after the parade, attracted one of the largest open air crowds ever seen in Honesdale, and the immense audience testified to their appreciation of the fine music by abundant applause. The band, under the baton of Conductor Wagner, never played better, and the vocal trio, Messrs Jones, Jenkins and Bodie, rendered several selections most acceptably. The excursion train on Tuesday took many hundreds of our townpeople to Lake Lodore, and the crowd there was largely augmented by parties from Carbondale and farther down the valley. On the grounds there were abundant amusements to suit every taste, from a dance in the grand pavilion to a barge ride on the beautiful lake, and choice refreshments, prepared by the Ladies' Label League, were supplied in ample quantities. The last excursion train, which left the lake shortly after seven o'clock, brought everybody safely home, but itself met with a slight mishap when the locomotive had just passed the Durand-Thompson factory near the depot. In taking the switch for the station, the front track and drivers of the engine left the track, and the train of seventeen passenger cars, though moving very slowly, was brought to a sudden standstill as to give the passengers a decided shake up, and a certain miniature panic, with no bad results, however.

—A barn on the farm of Henry Miller, near the outlet of Lake Ariel, was struck by lightning on Thursday evening of last week, and destroyed by the ensuing fire. The loss aggregated $1,385. Insurance $500 on building and $300 on contents in the Wayne County Farmers' Mutual.

F. Dudley—the Black Croaker. The first part is replete with the latest and sweetest of songs and ballads—mingled with the old time songs of the South and dances such as can be rendered only by the real darky. There are 10 features acts in the olio—the acrobatically funny after piece, "A Fowl Deed."
